We do things
a bit differently
to help you navigate
financial data

Who we are

Infront was started with the desire to challenge the status quo and build a smarter alternative to financial market data technology. We still think that finding the right data for making smarter investment decisions should be fast, easy and intuitive.

Today, our solutions go beyond our flagship market data terminal to include flexible, integrated solutions for investment management and advisory services, trading, sell-side and distribution, corporate IR, treasury and risk, and valuation and compliance.

We also have web-based tools for you to digitize your investment offering to your private investor clients. All built to be modular and scalable to suit your needs across the entire financial workflow.

As a European company with offices in 13 countries including South Africa, we're close to you, we speak your language, and we understand your local requirements. We might be smaller than our global competitors, but that also makes us faster and more agile – for you.

We go our own way to innovate better financial solutions, so you can make more informed decisions. It's not about more data, it's about the right data, presented intuitively, so you can get the job done.

Infront. The smart alternative.

Why choose Infront

Faster. Easier. Smarter.
